

The Talk Show in the FL Classroom

A project to promote speaking in a multilevel classroom

By: Katrina Griffin

North County HS MD

The Talk Show in the FL Classroom

Why a talk show?

Its fun

It works well in classrooms with students of varying abilities.

Students forget that they don't know how to speak

What kind of talk show is it?

An ambush style show

Jerry Springer

Britt- der Talk um eins

Arabella

By: Katrina Griffin

North County HS MD

The Talk Show in the FL Classroom

The Roles

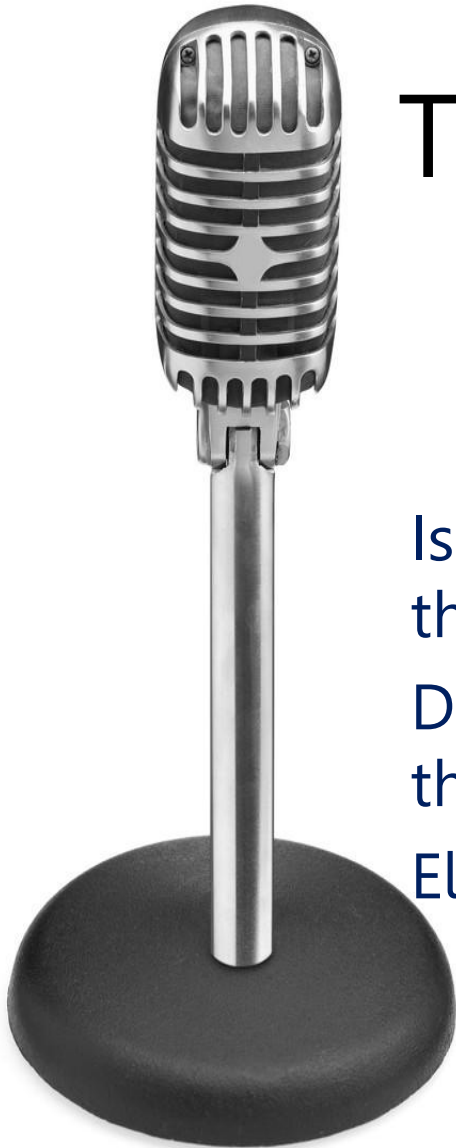

Moderator

Show Guests

Audience Members

By: Katrina Griffin

North County HS MD

The Talk Show in the FL Classroom

The Moderator

Is given all information about the guests on the show.

Decides in which order the guests come on the show.

Elicits pertinent information from the guests

By: Katrina Griffin

North County HS MD

The Talk Show in the FL Classroom

The Guests

Are given character sheets that contain information about their background, family and secrets

They must act according to character

The Talk Show in the FL Classroom

The Audience

Each student is assigned a guest character

They collect information on the character

All audience members must ask at least one question

The Talk Show in the FL Classroom

Pre-Show Activities

Notes/discussions on the varieties of talk shows

Watch clips of German talk shows and have students glean information- themes, family trees

By: Katrina Griffin

North County HS MD

The Talk Show in the FL Classroom

Pre-Show Activities

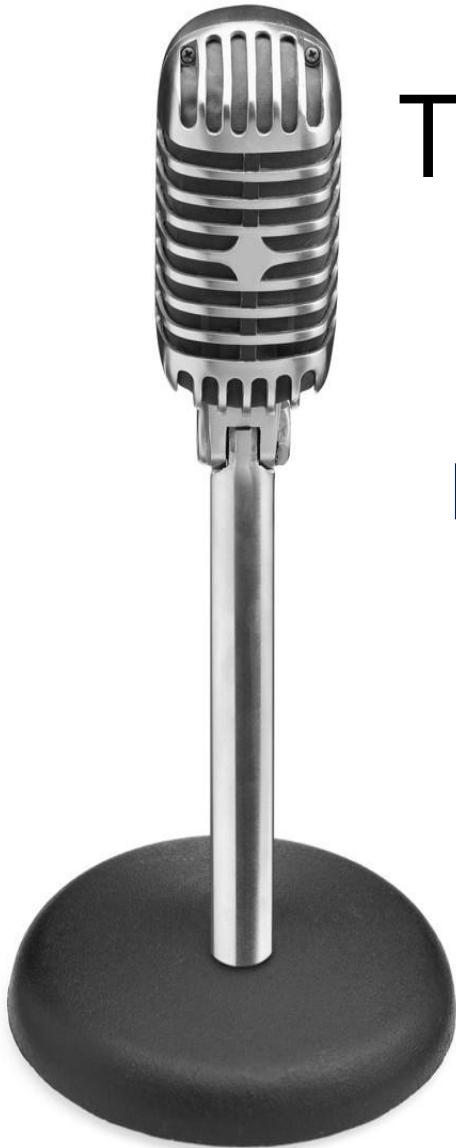

Vocabulary Builder Games-
Taboo/Pictionary

Pass out Character Sheets-3
students per character

Character Interviews

By: Katrina Griffin

North County HS MD

The Talk Show in the FL Classroom

During the Show

Moderator calls guests out and asks questions

Audience members gather information on one guest

Talk show guests ask and answer questions in character

Surprise guests appear!

The Talk Show in the FL Classroom

After the Show

Everyone writes a letter “in character” for a 5 year show follow up

By: Katrina Griffin

North County HS MD